Breed APHA

Story ue is a gentle, sound, and very broke family horse. She has been used on trails and in the arena and has had extensive training and experience. She is very friendly, kind and fun to ride both english and western. She has never been injured or lame and has always been kept current on health and hoof care. Her career has included lesson horse, horse camping and trail riding and she has been used for novice riders at playdays. She'll stand tied all day long, clips, bathes, blankets, loads and hauls and is perfect with her feet. She stays gentle and broke even without regular riding and she never gets cranky. She does not push on fences, gets along with all other equines, and will stay in a stall, in a pasture or pen or even one strand of hot wire without issues. She is easy to have around ...

Breed: APHA

Que is a gentle, sound, and very broke family horse. She has been used on trails and in the arena and has had extensive training and experience. She is very friendly, kind and fun to ride both english and western. She has never been injured or lame and has always been kept current on health and hoof care. Her career has included lesson horse, horse camping and trail riding and she has been used for novice riders at playdays. She'll stand tied all day long, clips, bathes, blankets, loads and hauls and is perfect with her feet. She stays gentle and broke even without regular riding and she never gets cranky. She does not push on fences, gets along with all other equines, and will stay in a stall, in a pasture or pen or even one strand of hot wire without issues. She is easy to have around and requires no special maintenance. She has recently had her vaccinations, deworming and dental care done and has good solid feet that have had regular care. Queen is reliable enough for novice riders and in a known environment she can be trusted to babysit children and beginners. Her gaits are very smooth, she will slow jog or trot out and she lopes off instantly on the correct lead. This mare would be ideal for a 4H kid or an OHSET beginner. She is a true all around horse who is gentle on the ground and under saddle. Pam Fournier - 541 280-5077 - Fourniertraining@gmail.com
