Breed GRADE - Not Registered

Story Pepper is a 6 year old, 14.2HH, double Doc Bar bred palomino mare being sold as grade. This mare has done everything her 10 year old rider has asked of her, and then some. She has been through barrel training for 3 months, and weekly lessons following. She has been started on all gaming events correctly. She is trotting events right now with a nice little handle on her, so finish her out your way. She has all the right tools, big stop, moves off of leg pressure, spins, Neck reins, and drives into the bridle. Very cowy and loves to track cattle. Was broke on a working cattle ranch. Pepper would make a great little break away horse for somebody. She loves the trails, comfortable leading or following. Crosses water, will even take you for a swim if you ask her to... right tools, big stop, moves off of leg pressure, spins, Neck reins, and drives into the bridle. Very cowy and loves to track cattle. Was broke on a working cattle ranch. Pepper would make a great little break away horse for somebody. She loves the trails, comfortable leading or following. Crosses water, will even take you for a swim if you ask her to. Walks over logs and bridges. She is not spooky. She has been in parades with my daughter and nothing phases her. Throw a western or English saddle on and she won't miss a beat. Her current rider loves to set up "obstacle courses" with jumps, cones, flags, barrels, and she will do whatever is asked of her. Even when she is asked to be the jungle gym and let a little girl crawl all over her and ride bareback through sprinklers in the summer. No buck or bite. She is current on all vaccinations. Zero health concerns. Her teeth were floated in February. She currently has shoes, but has no problem running barefoot. Loves a good bath, trailers alone or with company, will stand tied, easy keeper. We almost sold her a year ago, and couldn't let her go. We know we are going to regret letting her go, but we don't have an extra stall and my daughter is ready to take the next step. If you have any questions please call or text. We want her to go to the right home and are happy to tell you everything about her. 541-731-3458
